I found the book uplifting despite some of the themes of drugs, abuse, and depression. In the book, the author goes on a trip unprepared and suffers some of the consequences. I've read other reviews that call it irresponsible and compare it to Into The Wild, where the main character travels to Alaska because he's disillusioned with consumerism ...

Lost And Found is a baby red panda that met Chris when he crashed onto a tree. She then follows him back to the Tortuga and loves wrapping herself around his neck like a stole or sitting on his head. Lost and Found tempts to follow Chris because she treats him like her father or if it's because she likes him.
